HYSTERICAL GIRL VANISHES AFTER AID

A mystery girl found in a hysterical condition in Franklin Park today received treatment at the City Hospital, then against the advice of physicians, disappeared. She gave the name of Frances Daines, aged 24, of No. 1 Wall street, Boston. Police found the address a fictitious one. The girl was found at the Blue Hill avenue entrance to the park. She was taken in a police ambulance to the hospital. Quieted by doctors she refused a tell of her plight.

SONS ST. GEORGE ASSERT LOYALTY

Springfield, July 26.—A buzz of indignation not usual at lodge meetings was voiced by delegates attending the 35th annual convention of the grand lodge of Massachusetts, American Order of the Sons of St. George. In terms of denunciation that admitted no misunderstanding, the delegates denied the recent declaration of Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield of New York city that the American Order, Sons of St. George is a pro-British organization and spreads British propaganda.

Filipino Vice-President Quits

Manila, P. I., July 25, (I.N.S.)—Vice President Sumong of the Philippine Democratic Party resigned today as the result of the government crisis which led to the resignation of many members of the cabinet.

NAB MALDEN MAN, CHARGE AUTO THIEF

Arthur I. Stone, twenty-six years old, of No. 7 Newton street, Malden, was arrested on two Grand Jury indictment warrants charging larceny of automobiles. The automobile of the Frederick Eddington Wool Company of No. 489 Summer street, Boston, valued at $1,400, was recovered in New York from James Shannon, when in use for rum running. Shannon, the police say, declared he had bought the machine from Stone. The other car, valued at $700, was stolen in 1920 from Mrs. Ellen Priddy of No. 8 Babcock street, Brookline. Myer Tanofsky of Boston told the police he bought it of Stone.

WINDSHIELD HOLDS DEAD MAN'S HEAD

Bennington, Vt., July 26.—Walter Button, 45 years old, a carpenter living at Hoosick Falls, N. Y., was found dead on the road to Pownal with his head through the broken windshield of his automobile. He died from hemorrhage resulting from wounds in his neck caused by broken glass. It is believed that he was driving at a high rate of speed and lost control of the car, which crashed into a tree at the side of the road.

MAXWELL TO FIGHT ACCUSERS

Declares Woman Wrote "Poison Pen" Letters; Denounces Ryan; Defends His Wife

New York, July 26.—Cleared by Judge McIntyre in General Sessions Court of indictments charging forgery and authorship of scores of "poison pen" letters, George Maxwell, music publisher, announced he knew the author of the letters and declared he had just begun to fight against authors of the charges.

"The thing will not be dropped," he said, "there will be startling developments. We know the author of the letters. It is a woman. I will leave nothing undone to bring about just and legal retaliatory measures."

Mr. Maxwell refused to say whether he would take action against Allan A. Ryan, who was responsible for his indictment after the "poison pen" letters had been received by many socially prominent men and women.

'SMACKS OF DARK AGES'

Branding the action of Mr. Ryan and of the district attorney's office as smacking of the "dark ages," he asserted that he was the real victim of the letters.

Denying he had exchanged radio messages with Mrs. Allan A. Ryan as he was charged in a brief filed by Assistant District Attorney Maloney, Mr. Maxwell said:

I never saw those messages and I never received them. No woman

The fighting wolf, with the jaw of a sheep, will have beaten Johnny Dundee in their fifteen-round battle at the Polo Grounds under the direction of Tom O'Rourke.

The doughty little Frenchman, who knocked out Johnny Kilbane in four rounds, will prove too tough for the hobbing, stout-hearted Dundee.

EARLY RETURNS FAVOR END OF PHONE STRIKE IN R. I.

First returns from the ballot of the striking telephone operators in New England on the question of calling off the strike came from Rhode Island today.

There two-thirds of the strikers voted to end the strike immediately and go back to work. This supports the advice of the Regional Council to call off the strike.

PHONE GIRLS ESCAPE FIRE; SOUTHBORO INN LOSS $50,000

Southboro, July 26.—Fire today destroyed the two upper stories of Southboro Arms, one of the best known road houses in Massachusetts.

Some twenty telephone operators, imported from other parts of the country to do strike duty at Milford and Framingham exchanges, were forced to flee. The blaze is believed to have started by a cigarette. The damage is said to amount to more than $50,000.

GERMANS RUSH INTO RUHR AS FRONTIER IS OPENED

Dusseldorf, July 26, (A.P.)—The frontier separating the Ruhr Valley from the rest of Germany was opened at midnight.

No official reports as to the resumption of traffic had been received at French headquarters here up to noon, but unofficial news was that thousands of Germans were passing in and out of the occupied region, making haste to transact urgent business.

They were anxious to accomplish all possible during the present opportunity because of reports that the frontier would be closed again in a few days.

COAL FOR ONLY ONE DAY; CURLEY MAY ASK U. S. AID

Boston has only one day's supply of coal on hand.

So Mayor Curley learned today from Superintendent of Supplies Frank P. Rock, who reported there is in Boston not more than $15,000 tons of anthracite coal.

Mayor Curley took under advisement the idea of enlisting the aid of federal authorities for the purpose of placing an embargo throughout the country on foreign shipments of anthracite coal.

Mayor Curley said there seemed to be a conspiracy afoot to compel the people to burn bituminous coal, despite the fact that the report of the fuel commissioner showed an increase in fires last year directly traceable to the use of bituminous coal, and notwithstanding the advice of the building commissioner that the chimneys of Boston structures were not adapted to the use of bituminous coal.

BLACKMAIL RING WILL BE EXPOSED

Mishawum "Shakedown" and Other Cases of Women Lures to Be Revealed

Assistant Attorney-General Hurwitz, who rushed to New York to bring Bill Corcoran back to Boston, telephoned Attorney-General Benton today that Corcoran would not fight extradition if brought to Boston immediately. If that cannot be arranged and a delay ensues he will fight being returned for trial, Mr. Hurwitz said.

Within the next day or two William J. Corcoran, once Middlesex County district attorney, but now "plain Bill" having been disbarred from practicing law, will come back to Boston shackled to detectives and the Mishawum Manor champagne feed and shakedown will be aired again in the newspapers.

Also the Tufts case, the Pelletier case, the Dan Coakley case, and fifty other notorious cases that are known hereabouts as the "Disbarment Trials" or "Blackmail Cases" will be detailed anew.

CORCORAN CONFESSED

After dodging arrest for months, following the jumping of $10,000 bail, Bill Corcoran has been caught in New York and must stand trial here on charges of blackmail, extortion and other things that had to do with the activities of Boston's famous "Blackmail Ring" of which Coakley, once brilliant attorney, was the brains, and Corcoran, Pelletier and others the "boys who pulled the chestnuts from the coals."

If you recall the Tufts, Pelletier

PHONE STRIKE COMES TO END

The strike of telephone operators officially ends at 3 p. m. today. At a mass meeting in Lorimer Hall at noon Miss Julia O'Connor, strike leader, announced the result of the vote taken Wednesday by the striking girls in the New England area outside Connecticut. In all but a few of the cities and towns affected the operators voted to return to work under the conditions outlined by the telephone company. Taken as a whole, the majority in favor of calling off the strike was not overwhelming, particularly in Providence, Fall River and Worcester.

BILL CORCORAN, ARRESTED, WILL BE BROUGHT BACK SOON FOR TRIAL

HIS CONFESSION REVEALING HUB "BLACKMAIL RING" WILL BE USED IN FULL IN EVIDENCE

barred and Tufts and Pelletier both broken of office and disbarred, you recall the seventy-five-page confession Bill Corcoran made to the then Attorney-General, J. Weston Allen. Bill had fled first to Mexico, then to Portchester, N. Y., to re-establish himself and forget.

He has a beautiful wife and three or four beautiful children.

Suddenly Mrs. Corcoran began to receive letters purporting to come from a Boston woman and increasingly lonesome husband. Corcoran should have stayed in Mexico to be of value to the blackmail ringsters then on trial in Boston. He was a fine witness to have out of the country.

When Bill tired of landscapes full of cactus and soiled peons and went to Portchester to live the gangsters were displeased. They decided to "get Bill" by having those letters written to his wife. It was a boomerang. Corcoran was so bitter at this palpable attempt to break up all that was dear to him in life that he grabbed a train for Boston.

Jos. C. Pelletier J. Weston Allen

PELLETIER'S DOWNFALL

He taxied to the office of Attorney General Allen. There he laid several pages full and told them so well that when the last period was jotted down Pelletier didn't have a leg to stand on. He actually couldn't put in a defense at the trial.

Of course, Corcoran implicated himself in that famous confession. How much so will be brought out in his trial shortly.

Arrested in the Manhattan office of a friend on a warrant charging him with being a fugitive from justice it isn't expected that he will fight extradition. Pinkerton detectives nabbed him and they say Bill was actually surprised. While he was sought by state officers on being sought by Attorney-General he ingenuously enough escaped detection. Then the case against him was transferred to District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, who appointed Arthur D. Hill special prosecutor, who in turn sent Pinkertons to "get Bill."

$100,000 SHAKEDOWN

Down the Great White Way today there probably are a few moving picture magnates snickering up their sleeves at Bill's arrest.

They are the gentlemen who made up the famous Mishawum Manor or Nero Circus party—a little $1,000 affair back in 1917 which was followed by the movie men being "shaken down" by the Blackmail Ring for $100,000.

Corcoran was in on the "shakedown," it is declared. It was a party primarily staged for "Fatty" Arbuckle, following a dinner to the Keith-Orpheum movie clown at the Copley-Plaza Hotel. "Fatty" had to get back to New York to take care of an important business deal and didn't make the circus. But Adolph Zukor was there with Jesse Lasky Famous Players and others. It was quite a party, there being present fifteen girls and sixteen men. Theresa Sears, piano player at the Mishawum, testifying in the Woburn Court after "Brownie" Kennedy, proprietress, had been arrested, said several of the men and girls occupied rooms together. Three of the girls were Elsie Snow, Ethel Ladd and Helen Baker.

ABRAMS WAS HOST

The banquet cost $1,000, Bessie McDonald, a waitress, testified. Abrams was supposed to have been the host. During the banquet, the waitress said, couples frequently left the dining table and stayed away from a half hour to an hour.

"The last party," said Miss McDonald, "left the Manor about 7 o'clock on the following morning. The girls had been sent for previous to the party by 'Brownie' Kennedy. They were to get $50 apiece for their services. I don't think they were paid. Ordinarily a girl only got $20 and the room cost $5."

The party was staged on the night of March 6, 1917. A short time later the movie magnates began to receive letters from attorneys. They were told to pay and pay quickly and generously or their names would be made public. That they paid is history.

Corcoran is named as the arch-conspirator of the Mishawum Manor

"shakedown." He was the boy who doped it out. The bigger guns in the outfit did the collecting.

CORCORAN UNMOVED

Taken to the Thirteen Street Police Station following his arrest he appeared indifferent to what he faces. "Why," he said, "they have ninety-seven indictments against me in Boston."

Actually there are 27 indictments with 118 counts.

What clemency will be shown in view of his famous confession is not known.

The indictments against him obtained from a Suffolk Grand Jury allege extortion from Theresa Dugan, former operator at Clark's Hotel, Boston, who is claimed to have been a lure in the blackmail of John L. Donovan, Boston leather merchant. Found with the girl by a detective for the blackmail ring, Donovan is said to have paid $17,000 hush money.

Corcoran is linked with the notorious Stearns case also, which created a sensation when it was revealed the blackmail ring "framed" Stearns by using a beautiful lure to trap him while the ring's always-on-the-job bogus detective dropped in and got the evidence, Mrs. Stearns securing her divorce and paying $5,000 to the ring to get it.

VICTOR SEARLES CASE

Then there was the famous Searles case in which Corcoran is charged with being implicated. A girl was used by the ring to compromise Victor Searles, heir to the fortune of the famous Methuen recluse, who died leaving several millions. The bogus detective hoped in again but Victor Searles, eccentric artist, refused to be annoyed. Being a dyed in the wool Bohemian the situation was merely colorful to the artist.

From Joseph E. Osborne, Corcoran is charged with having extracted $50,000. It was paid to prevent legal action after Osborne had been found in a Back Bay hotel with a Mrs. James H. Hart, the ever-ready "ring" detective arriving for the crucial evidence.

Corcoran is charged with figuring in the will case of John Sullivan, former liquor dealer, the ring endeavoring to break the will depriving the widow of the estate, while they fattened their bank accounts with "lawyers' profits."

WITH BROWNIE KENNEDY

There are many more, but chief of all is the famous Mishawum Manor dinner which Corcoran is charged with having thought out and arranged with the aid of the notorious "Brownie" Kennedy, who, it is alleged, was seen much in Corcoran's company when he was Middlesex district attorney.

Boston never before had such a band as the blackmail ring broken up by former Attorney-General Allen. The workings and boldness and scrutiliness of the ring was astounding. With a half a dozen beautiful girls to lure their prey, bogus sleuths to get evidence and shrewd lawyers to make the "shakedowns" the reputations of moneyed men were ever in danger of being blasted were they the least bit indiscreet.

Two of the lures, Mrs. Theresa Dugan of Cambridge and Mrs. Lillian Cady Reese of East Boston turned informers and bared the machinations of the ring to the Attorney-General. They involved Corcoran and told startling tales of how wealthy victims were selected for blackmail and what they did to lure them to hotels selected by the ring lawyers. They knew, too, just when to expect the bogus sleuth or sleuths.

WOMEN ESCAPE TRIAL

These women have never been put on trial for their part in the ring activities.

Of Corcoran's apprehension late Wednesday in New York it became known today that ten days ago Inspector John Mitchell of the Boston police almost nabbed him at the New York main postoffice. Corcoran had an appointment there with a Boston man.

The police inspector was "tipped off." He reached the postoffice on time, but Corcoran did not. The much wanted lawyer had been "wised up" from Boston that he was about to be grabbed.

It was then decided by Arthur D. Hill, appointed special prosecutor by District Attorney O'Brien to handle the Corcoran prosecution, and Assistant Attorney-General Albert Hurwitz, who will assist, to flood the country with posters offering a reward for the disbarred lawyer's arrest.

William J. Corcoran was born in Stoneham, April 25, 1877. He was educated in the public schools and in 1903 graduated from Boston University Law School. He was married four years later. Three children were born of the union. In 1913 Corcoran was elected district attorney of Middlesex County, the first Democrat to obtain that office in many years. He was sworn in on January 7, 1914, succeeding J. J. Higgins of Somerville and serving for one term. He was a member of the law firm of Corcoran, Walsh and Connor but later practiced alone. In the Tufts disbarment case Corcoran was accused with Dan Coakley of being a conspirator in the famous Mishawum Manor revels.

Corcoran Is Named in Twenty-Eight Indictments

William J. Corcoran is held on warrants containing twenty-eight indictments. He pleaded not guilty to all charges on December 27, 1921, when he was admitted to bail in $10,000 on one count and released on his personal recognizance in the other charges. The indictments charged him, Harry Levenson, now in prison for extortion; J. Warren Kane, Michael Lyons, Theodore Bearse, Omar Kaldah, Peggy Parks and Francis and Theresa Dugan with inciting and procuring Leo Corcoran for the extortion of money from James L. Donovan.

Corcoran's bail was furnished by William H. and Walter E. Goodrich of Chestnut street, Brockton. This bail he jumped.

Hiram Johnson's Speech
No Death House Radio
Motors Kill Trains
A Better Boomerang
—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1923, by Star Company)

WISE REPUBLICANS, including President Harding, will read carefully every line of Hiram Johnson's speech. This writer has just heard him and begs to inform the Republican party that if it does not cut the World Court nonsense out of its 1924 program, it will be knocked on the head politically. And Hiram Johnson will do the knocking.

THE AVERAGE CORPORATION gentleman, convinced that everything is perfect in a perfect world, should keep in mind Johnson's warning, "You'll have to take progressivism or radicalism will take you."

JOHNSON WANTS to know why American statesmen imagine they can settle the problems of Europe by going into a League of Nations or a World Court, when they can't even settle their own coal problem, railroad problem, farmer problem, or make the Ku Klux love their fellow citizens, the Catholics and the Jews.

GEORGE HARVEY, our able young ambassador to London, heard the speech, and although he probably wouldn't admit it, knew that every word of it was true.

EUROPE IS interested in us, Senator Johnson says, not because of our intelligence, our moral weight, which she holds in contempt, but simply and solely because this country is the world's greatest reservoir of money.

REFERRING TO President Harding's statement that he was not going into the League of Nations by the back door, the side door, or the cellar door, Hiram Johnson said:

"I know it, but we're asked to house ourselves in a separate building on the estate of the league."

HIRAM JOHNSON never made a better speech. He is desperately earnest in his determination to keep this nation, its young men and its dollars, out of Europe's grip.

IT IS SAFE to predict that the Republicans will conveniently forget their World Court plan, handed to them by Hughes and Hoover, before Johnson has made half a dozen more of his speeches.

IN SING SING prison's death house, twenty men await their turn in the death chair. The Salvation Army sent a radio set to cheer up the murderers and make the death house brighter. But the warden says he can't "change the death house into a house of mirth." The law says condemned murderers must be kept in solitary confinement. With radio bringing news of the world's prize fights, baseball games, etc., the death house wouldn't be solitary.

IT'S DISAPPOINTING for the twenty men, but soon they will take a trip farther than any radio message ever travelled, and will know what the warden doesn't know. That may comfort them. Besides, it would seem ridiculous for the death house to listen in on Uncle Wobbly's bedtime story.

THE NEW HAVEN RAILROAD abandons its branch line in Franklin County, Massachusetts, driven out by automobile competition. That's the first road to close down under such competition.

Many another, as regards passenger traffic, will close down before long, thanks to flying machine competition. In fifty years or less, the newspapers will tell of some very old lady arranging to go from Chicago to New York on a freight train, because she still retains her horror of flying machines, and passenger trains no longer run, on long hauls.

THERE IS A NEW boomerang in the air. The old style, thrown by savages on the other side of the earth, was a little piece of wood. If it failed to hit the mark at which it was thrown, it came back and fell at the feet of its owner—sometimes.

THE NEW BOOMERANG is a flying machine with no man in it, controlled, driven and steered by wireless. The French army has sent a flying machine from one city to another and brought it back to the place whence it started. And wireless steered the machine.

The same wireless could have dropped TNT bombs on the city to which the machine was sent.

THAT'S SOMETHING the people of the United States, especially Congress, ought to think about, while we haggle over allowing the army twenty-five million dollars for flying equipment. A hundred millions honestly and efficiently spent would be well spent.

CHARGES MATE BOASTED OF CONQUESTS

MRS. HARRIET LAURIE WILCOX

Movie actress and model who accuses Roxbury cafe man of fondness for other women. Below is shown enlarged photograph of the screen beauty's "mirror eyes," whose "eloquence and truthfulness" have cost her her husband.

Rich Tricked by Girl, Fake Seer

RIVALS WON MATE, SAYS ACTRESS

"Pure Bunk," Declares Husband Who Is Willing She Should Get Divorce

"Mirror eyes," speaking with "eloquence and truthfulness surpassing speech," have cost Mrs. Harriet "Laurie" Wilcox, motion picture actress and former Boston model, her husband, Byron A. Wilcox, Boston restaurateur.

Mrs. Wilcox, known on the silver screen as Harriet Laurie, in a divorce action filed in Los Angeles, claims that her husband could not look into her eyes and tell the truth.

The complaint specifies in relation to Mrs. Wilcox's eyes the following:

"That on or about the first of February, 1920, he told her the following:

"'I see the handwriting on the wall. Your eyes, they speak with an eloquence and truthfulness surpassing speech. They are like windows out of which the lights fly unwittingly. They are tiny magic mirrors on whose crystal surfaces the windows of which play like sunlight and shadow on a still stream. We must part. You must forget.'"

DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES.

Her husband, whom she terms "The Sheik of Roxbury and Cambridge," terms his wife's allegations as "pure bunk." "If she wishes to obtain a divorce she has my good wishes," he added. Mr. Wilcox was at his restaurant on Warren street, Roxbury.

Mrs. Wilcox charges in her divorce papers that she once found her husband the only man with a party of seven women in a Boston cafe. One of the young women declared she would dance the "Dance of the Seven Veils"—without veils—on the dinner table.

WOMEN INVOLVED.

The movie actress further charges that her husband wrote her not to hurry home from a vacation because he had more engagements with women than he could fill. She also charged that he nightly kept company with a Boston married woman during her absence.

Mr. Wilcox told the story of his married life and of the successful career of his wife in the motion pictures. He said:

"She was Miss Laurel Rutter of Manchester, N. H., when we were married in Boston in 1911. We lived happy in our Cambridge home—No. 1648 Massachusetts avenue—until my wife entered on a public career.

Saunders explained that after boarding the boat at New York, he went ashore in telephone and the steamer left without him.

AMAZING CAREER OF DECEIVER

Mrs. Anderson Defies Convention and Invades Underworld to Aid Children

"I want to stand on top of the world of fame."

"Not for myself—but for my babies."

That is the driving ambition of a Massachusetts girl, who has stepped out of her Main street environment, and dazzled decorous country folks in a big city way.

Her name is Mrs. Helen Blanche Anderson of Natick, the young woman who leaped to fame in Milford recently when she posed as a famous movie queen and tricked society matrons into receiving her as one of the elect of the silver screen.

Then she disappeared.

Today she was discovered by a representative of this newspaper to whom she poured forth her dreams, her ambitions, and the story of her romantic life.

FINDS 24-HOUR LOVE.

Helen Anderson, mother of four children is a woman who has never loved.

But she is the discoverer of 24-hour love. She has gone into the highways and byways of the world to taste of life at first-hand. She has rendezvoused in opium dens. She has made love to Black Hand leaders and lured them on to divulge their secrets.

On the other side she has been entertained within sacred portals on the North Shore, feted in country clubs, and welcomed by straight-laced business organizations.

Meanwhile, her husband plods to work each day in a local casting foundry—estranged in thought from his wife, living in a different world, which explains the tragedy of their lives.

DEATHBED MARRIAGE.

She began life with a deathbed marriage. It was to please her mother. It was her one great handicap. Children came. With them came dreams—dreams of nice things—dreams of raising children in an atmosphere of success and breeding. But her dreams never materialized. From dancing, to detective work to writing, to spiritualism, to card reading, she tossed and drifted.

"I deliberately picked up college men, posed as an heiress, was introduced to their society-elect friends in Boston and its suburbs. There I studied and observed, and now I can move in any circle."

So it was with the seamy side of life.

She wanted to know about Black Handers, their secrets, their livelihoods.

"For two years I schemed to be introduced to the leader of the Black Hand society in Worcester. Finally I met him in a Providence cafe. He was captivated by me, I let him make love to me, I lured him on. And he told me all—secrets and passwords, and today I can go into any band of Black Handers in the world."

For her most interesting experiences have come during her career of fortune telling, where love-stricken girls, and love-stricken matrons, and aye, love-stricken business men have come child-like, trusting, open mouthed, for the fortune teller's rubbish.

ANALYZES AMOURS.

"Do you know what twenty-four hour love is?" she asked.

Now a veteran reporter who has covered a varied assortment of murder trials, divorce pow-wows, and alimony squabbles thought he knew most of the infinite variations of amours. But that was a new one, he had to admit. "It is one of the five types of girl love," she said.

"The first is the 24-hour love type. She thinks she is in love with every man she sees. The second type loves a man for his clothes, his hair, his habits, or his smooth tongue. The third type loves a man for a couple of months, and then drifts. The fourth loves a man for a time, but after marriage realizes her mistake, yet clings to him for food, shelter and clothing.

"Then there is the fifth type of love—grand, glorious, exultant love, Divine love, where both faithfully trust, love and cherish, and each would give his life for the other. Seldom do you see it."

SEEKING FAME, FINDS 24-HOUR LOVE

MRS. HELEN BLANCHE ANDERSON

Natick wife, dominated by urge to tear aside sanctimonious mask from the face of High Society became a card medium. Invading homes of the elect her rare beauty intoxicated callow college youths, prosperous men of middle age, and doddering old "Sweet Daddies." And she found them all easy and eager victims to her system of fake occultism.

PICKFORD IS CALLED BY JURORS

Declared He Bought Gin and Whiskey and Checks Were Found on Suspects

Los Angeles, July 26.—Jack Pickford, motion picture actor and brother of Mary Pickford, has been subpoenaed by the Federal grand jury investigating charges of violation of the Volstead Act against Dave Lerner, J. C. Irving and others arrested last March, Federal officials said today.

At the time of the arrest two checks, one for $60 and the other for $115, bearing what was said to be Pickford's signature, were taken from the suspects. According to prohibition agents, one of the men declared he had sold half a case of gin and a case of Scotch whiskey to the actor.

Jack Pickford.

Pickford at the time asked permission to go before the Grand Jury to explain the matter, but was not allowed to do so. Permission to make a statement to prohibition agents was denied him.

In Irving's possession, it was declared by officers, was found a long list of alleged patrons, a number of whom are said to be motion picture stars, and it was said at the Federal building today that Pickford would not be the only screen star summoned before the Grand Jury.

Put Rocks on Rails; Was End "Funny?" Ask 'Little Joe"

The Fitchburg-Boston express was whistling. Joe Casalli, seven, ran from the Kent street playground, Somerville, to the Boston & Maine tracks. He laid six big rocks on the rails. Then he hid.

Sergeant Everett A. Nash and Officer Mike Casey of the railroad police, investigating a freight car burglary, saw the child place the stones. They ran up and swept them from the tracks. The express thundered by.

"Why did you do that," the sergeant asked of little Joe.

"Some boys told me it would cause something funny," came the answer.

Little Joe was then sent to his home, No. 621 Somerville, avenue, Somerville, where lots happened, not funny.

MAN FEARED SUICIDE PHONES HIS WIFE

Washington, July 26.—Mrs. William Saunders, whose husband, a wealthy realtor, has been missing a week, received a telephone call from him today saying he was returning to Washington. The message came after clothing belonging to Saunders, who had written letters threatening to end his life, had been found in a cabin of the steamer Concord at Providence, R. I.

Saunders explained that after boarding the boat at New York, he went ashore in telephone and the steamer left without him.

MAXWELL DECLARES WOMAN WROTE "POISON PEN" LETTERS

CHARGES HIS HOME WAS RAIDED ILLEGALLY BY ALLAN A. RYAN; DEFENDS LATTER'S WIFE

ever adressed me in such terms in my life."

ACCUSES ALLAN A. RYAN

Maxwell denounces Allan A. Ryan, saying:

"Ryan entered my house and flashed a police badge, posing as a police officer, which in itself is against the law and a serious offence. He searched my house and took things not belonging to him, without a search warrant, which is criminal.

"They seized my housekeeper and threw her into jail and held her in $10,000 bail. For what? Did you ever hear of such proceedings, sanctioned by a district attorney's office. They coerced Mrs. Hodierne and intimidated her. It seems like the Dark Ages, such illegal and arbitrary acts at the behest of Mr. Kilroe's pal, Allan Ryan.

HIS FATHER SHOCKED

"Here is a picture of my old father. He is eighty-two years old and living on the Isle of Bute, Scotland. This thing has been the shock of his life. It has nearly killed him. They even say I am not his son. You might tell some of these people to adopt the simple expedient of looking in Burke's Peerage. They will see whether I and my brother William here are mentioned."

Dramatically Maxwell exclaimed:

"It is I who am the real victim of these letters, not these other persons mentioned, unfortunate as it is that other names should have been dragged in the mire. There was no need of that. It is simply dastardly."

Mrs. Ryan Denounces "Plot" to Ruin Her

Paris, July 26.—"It's an atrocious lie. It's a plot against me by some one who has cause to wish my ruin," cried Mrs. Allan A. Ryan, wife of the millionaire son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, when she was told of testimony brought out in New York in the "poison pen" charges against George Maxwell, the internationally known music publisher.

"Nobody who ever knew me, and nobody who has known me since we came to Europe can ever believe such a story," she said.

Mrs. Ryan, with her two children, has been living in an obscure Paris hotel ever since she gave up her luxurious apartment some months ago.

RED FROM WEEPING

Her eyes were red and puffed from weeping.

"I have been hounded ever since I have been in Europe," she declared between sobs. "No, I won't tell you by whom. I won't tell you anything."

Then she sobbed and wrung her hands and exclaimed:

"What devils they are, to dare this! Don't they know there are two young children here on whose innocent heads the whole thing will fall?"

The suite of Mrs. Ryan at her present hotel is a poor affair compared with the luxurious houses that she has been mistress of in Amerika, or compared with the fine apartment she took in the aristocratic section of the Bois de Boulogne last year when she came to Paris.

IN SMALL SUITE

She has only two small bedrooms, and a bath, and no sitting room. I learned she planned to move again immediately to avoid further publicity. "Allan spent every dollar trying to square up after he tried to corner Stutz," she explained.

When Mrs. Ryan first came to Paris she was asked about a rumor she had come to obtain a divorce. She replied:

"Such a report is utterly ridiculous. I love my husband."

Since then she has been in Paris continuously, except for short trips to London, Switzerland and Biarritz. She lives a very quiet life, taking the children to the Luxembourg Gardens every morning and is never seen in the night cafes and ballrooms.

ALL "DIRTY PLOT"

Mrs. Ryan looks considerably older for the time she has spent in Europe. Certainly she has not the appearance of a gay butterfly, flitting from one resort to another as one might gather from the accusations hurled against her in the Maxwell hearing in New York.

Asked about the alleged love letters and radiograms exchanged with Maxwell, she said: "You will notice that they did not produce my signature. It is all a dirty plot against my reputation. Those men! They'd do anything."

Wants Girl Back

MRS. EFFIE A. CORLISS

Mother who is seeking to regain custody of eleven-year-old daughter, cared for by another.

MOTHER FIGHTS TO REGAIN HER CHILD

"No one can defy the rights of a mother's love. Nobody can defy the heart anguish, the physical agony and suffering and the mental tortures which accompany motherhood, and keep my child from me!"

So declared Mrs. Effie Abbott Corliss, who seeks, through the Suffolk County Supreme Court, to regain custody of her daughter, Marguerite Helen Abbott, eleven years old, boarded for ten years with Mrs. Carleton P. Lincoln.

Ten years ago, her husband, on his death bed, and her finances low, Mrs. Corliss asked Mrs. Lincoln, then unmarried, to care for her daughter. Mrs. Lincoln was in comfortable circumstances and devoted to the child. She willingly took the baby.

Recently, Mrs. Corliss married again, and finding herself in comfortable circumstances, requested the return of her child. Mrs. Lincoln had become deeply attached to the girl, and refused to give up custody of her.

Charles B. Raymond is attorney for Mrs. Corliss. Counsel for the Lincolns complained in court of insufficient time to prepare the case, and further hearings were postponed until next Wednesday.

Minter came to Boston. Miss Charlotte Whitney, advance agent for Miss Minter, heard there was a promising star at the Newton studio. They went to New York together.

"My wife came home a week earlier than expected. It was the only time I strayed from the straight and narrow path.

WILLING TO BE FREE.

"Later she went to California. I mailed her $100 each month for six months. Then I asked her to return. She did not reply. I went into the airplane business and lost a lot of money. Later I returned to the restaurant business.

"Recently my wife wrote she heard I was taking divorce action on the grounds of desertion. She said she hoped my second wife and her the report that I was seeking divorce was not true. I added that if she got a divorce I hoped her next husband would treat her would make me happy. I wrote tell-department at $1,500 a year. He is a graduate of Technology.

of the law firm which is acting for the princess, explained that the princess wishes to remain incognito. His explained that the princess came from one of the allied countries of Europe and her reason for wishing to adopt an American is her gratitude to America for aiding her country in the World War, and in the period of reconstruction which followed.

Baird also stated that the stipulation that the person adopted "be of means commensurate with the highest social position" was not an attempt on the part of the princess to barter her title for wealth, but merely means that the person adopted must have sufficient wealth to live up to his or her social position.

PASTORS TERM LYNN BEACH 'HELL'S RECRUITING STATION'

CONDITIONS AT NAHANT SCORED

Beverly's "Shooting Chief" Ought to Be Imported, Rev. F. L. Brooks Says

Lynn clergymen, hastening to the support of Lynn women's clubs, which have complained to the Metropolitan Park police of the "disgraceful spooning" practised on the Lynn and Nahant beaches, denounced conditions on the beaches and termed the resorts "recruiting stations for Hell."

"The signs on Lynn and Nahant beaches which read 'Metropolitan Reservation should be removed, and in their stead placards reading Recruiting Station for Hell should be placed," the Rev. Frederick L. Brooks, pastor of the Advent Church, Lynn, declared.

"Chief Hayes of the Beverly police, who is about to stand trial for the shooting of two Lynn young people, should be requested to patrol the beach, gun in hand, and right hand at that, and should aim straight and shoot, when he sees that which so many are compelled to see," the pastor declared.

"Some of my parishioners and I are planning to walk along the beach on the next warm night for the purpose of gathering material for a sermon on 'A Trip Through Hell,' Rev. Brooks said.

Rev. Howard B. Smith, pastor of the Austin Square Baptist Church, was of the same mind as Rev. Brooks.

Belfast (AP)—Three Free State soldier cyclists were seized by Ulster specials after they allegedly refused to halt when challenged in crossing the Fermanagh-Cavan border.

VICTORY PLANT GOES UNDER HAMMER

The Squantum "Victory Plant" erected by the government in war emergency at a cost of $14,000,000, is up for auction, under the direction of Captain R. W. Bonsfon of Washington. After the sale the nine steel and glass buildings which cover thirty-eight acres, and where 12,000 men were once employed, will probably be torn down.

Buyers from all parts of the country were present when the first property went under the hammer. Included in the disposal were sheet metal and parts used in ship building, several million pounds of steel plate, pneumatic and portable drills, a half million pounds of hemp and a huge quantity of office furniture.

Much of the same class of material is offered for sale today at the Charlestown Navy Yard. At the Navy Yard six steam launch engines and six small steamers will be offered for sale.

JAPANESE GETS R. I. LICENSE TO WED CAMBRIDGE WOMAN

Providence, July 26.—A marriage license was granted to Shigeta Watanabe, a Japanese student at Cambridge, Mass., and Miss Nora Gertrude Kitson, also of Cambridge.

The Japanese gave his age as twenty-five and his occupation as student, while the bride gave her age as thirty-four and said she is not employed. Both gave their address at No. 5 Linnaen street, Cambridge. As the couple came from outside Rhode Island the license was granted subject to the five-day law under which they may not be married until July 28.

JUMPS TO DEATH AFTER KILLING DOCTOR

Battle Creek, Mich., July 26.—Dr. W. S. Shipp, one of the best known physicians in this city, was shot and killed by a maniac, who jumped to death from a six-story window. ACCUSE DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP HELMSMAN OF KICKING BOY

A kick from the boot of Leo M. Schmolck, custodian of the Lynn City Hall, sent fifteen-year-old William Gousoulos to the Lynn Hospital with bruised muscles of the legs, it is alleged. As a result George Gousoulos, of No. 39 Pine Grove avenue, Lynn, father of the injured boy, declares he will ask for a warrant for the custodian's arrest. Schmolck declares that he caught the boy walking on the City Hall lawn and "just barely touched him" with his foot. The custodian is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and served as helmsman on Admiral Dewey's flagship when it sailed into Manila Bay.

Special Invitation
TO VISITORS

A gentleman visitor from the Philippines, a customer of Jason Weiler & Sons' Mail Order Service—who for the past six years has ordered many items from both our diamond and jewelry catalogs—called yesterday "to get better acquainted." We showed him the names and addresses of over 4000 customers in the Philippines. He recognized several of the names as friends and acquaintances and he could not help but say "What a small world this is after all."

Every day we welcome customers from all over the world and particularly during these vacation days when Westerners delight in the shores and mountains of New England.

If you are a visitor we cordially extend this invitation for you to call.

Our rest rooms and phones are at your service. We will be pleased to show you the names of our customers in your city or town. Maybe you too will recognize many of them and it will help you, if possible, to feel more at home.

CHAOS IN BERLIN AS PRICES AND MARKS SOAR

Berlin, July 26 (Universal Cable)—With the entire police force and detachments of the Reichswehr in and around Berlin in a state of readiness and the masses goaded to desperation by sky-rocketing prices and money that is practically worthless, both the Prussian and Federal officials are uneasy, sitting upon a lid under which a volcano is rumbling today.

The situation is made more acute by the appearance of the food profiteer, an increasing scarcity having been caused by the holding back of staple products because of the tumbling mark which has reached almost 3,000,000 to the American dollar.

Go where one will in Berlin an atmosphere of despair prevails and the blackest pessimism is expressed. The public has been seized with an increasing panicky nervousness.

In the markets there were wild scenes as the housewives stormed the stalls for potatoes and other simple foods. There were loud wails and screechings when they found that the sum sufficient to buy meals twenty-four ago would not buy a mouthful and curses were directed against capitalists and the government.

FIREMEN SAVE BOY WEDGED IN CREVICE

Cambridge police and fire department were called to rescue Daniel Dellavo, eight years old, of No. 115 Hinkley avenue, North Cambridge, when he got caught between the walls of the Harvard Theatre at No. 2313 Massachusetts avenue and the candy shop adjacent.

Daniel Dellavo

Daniel spotted a gleaming object that looked like a nickel between the walls, which are only eight inches apart, and he dove in to grab it.

When he got about ten feet in he became wedged and started to cry lustily. Passersby tried to extricate him in vain.

HARDING FIRST PRESIDENT TO VISIT CANADA

On Board U. S. S. Henderson With President Harding, July 26 (6p.m.)—President Harding arose earlier than usual today looking forward to this epochal day in the Canadian city of Vancouver, B. C.

Not alone has the chief executive dreamed of a visit to Alaska, a dream now realized—but he has looked forward to the time when he would be able to stand on Canadian soil something which has been done by no American President.

The Henderson today completed her long voyage down the inside passage from Sitka, Alaska, and was proceeding into waters adjacent to Vancouver Harbor.

Although the President and Mrs. Harding did not step on Canadian soil until this noon, several members of the party on the Henderson spent a few hours in the Province of British Columbia yesterday while the Henderson lay at anchor in Duncan Bay for nearly twelve hours on account of being ahead of her scheduled time.

Those who went ashore visited the little resort town of Campbell River.

Directions were issued by the President yesterday for participation by the Henderson's company of marines and by the United States Navy band in today's exercises at Vancouver by way of returning a compliment paid him in Portland, Ore., Independence Day, when the officers and men of the British light cruiser Curlew took part in a parade.

Spreckels, is now Princess Said Chakir and mistress of one of the finest homes in the suburbs of Constantinople. News of the marriage has just reached dispatches by cable. Grace, former pastor of the Shrine of St. Anne at Arvada, was found guilty in the Federal Court here of forgery and perjury in connection with applications to ship liquor in large quantities to the Mullen Home for the Aged. The priest is alleged to have forged the name of Sister Gormaina, superintendent of the home, to a liquor permit. The verdict carries with it a sentence of from one to ten years.

MORE BEAUTIES ENTER AMERICAN'S CHARMING GIRL CONTEST

WONDER TRIP IS PRIZE

Winner to Attend Atlantic City Fall Pageant With Expenses Paid

Three unusually bewitching young women today entered the Boston American CHARMING GIRL tournament in an effort to win the week's free trip to Atlantic City during the fall pageant.

They are Miss Margaret Black, twenty-one, secretary for the American Trust Company of State street and who lives at No. 107 Woodrow avenue, Dorchester; Miss Ora Currie Davis, sixteen, a school-girl residing at No. 88 Pearl street, Cambridge, and Miss Isabel Antle, seventeen, who lives at No. 12 Farrar street, Lynn.

That all three are charming is clearly indicated by a single glance at their photographs. The friends of each is sure she will be the winner.

CAMERA MAN'S SCHEDULE.

Because of yesterday's inclement weather the Boston American photographer did not go to Revere Beach to make photographs of girls who wish to enter the tournament but haven't good pictures. He will visit Revere Beach next Monday afternoon, however. The photographer's schedule follows.

Today, Nantasket Beach, near the main entrance.

Tomorrow, Head House, City Point, South Boston.

Saturday, Wollaston Beach.

Sunday, Salisbury Beach, on beach near main entrance.

Monday, Revere Beach, on beach in front of State Bathhouse.

As many of the fairest girls in Greater Boston are now summering at or near these beaches the Boston American wants to give them an opportunity of entering the tournament. Any girl between the ages of fourteen and thirty, inclusive, may have her picture taken free of charge by the American photographer by presenting herself between 1 and 5 p. m. at the above places on the days specified.

A girl who is poor has just as much chance to win as a wealthy young woman. No restrictions are placed upon those entering except that they shall not be professional models or earn their living in a similar capacity, as this is a strictly amateur contest.

ENJOY WONDERFUL TRIP.

That trip to Atlantic City for one week, with all expenses paid by this newspaper, is going to be something the winner will never forget. She will attend all the functions connected with the annual fall pageant on September 5, 6 and 7 free of charge. She will have automobile, rolling-chair, seaplane and yacht rides free. She will pay nothing for the wonderful hotel suite she will occupy with her mother or other chaperon of her own selection.

All meals of winner and chaperon will be paid for by the Boston American. In addition, she will have an opportunity to win the national beauty prize and be called "Miss America" for one year. "Miss Boston," as the American's winner will be called, will also have a chance to win a $5,000 gold trophy—the famous Golden Mermaid, a solid gold statue, and last but not least, she may be selected by a motion picture company official for a $10,000 position in the movies.

Isn't it worth your time, girls? If you think so, get busy and send in your photograph and entry coupon as the time for entering is limited and will not be extended after the announced closing date.

CHURCH WINDOWS RIDDLED BY GANG

Heaps of broken brick, scattered profusely over a new city playground lot on Shawmut avenue, near Cobb street, and used by youths in that neighborhood as ammunition in more or less friendly gang fights, have worked havoc with the stained glass windows of Holy Trinity Church nearby and since last December the Rev. Charles J. Gisler, S. J., rector of the church, has been out of pocket $80 in making repairs.

Father Gisler declared that until Tuesday last he was in dread of every window in his church being smashed.

PRIEST CONVICTED IN RUM FORGERY

Denver, July 26.—Rev. Walter A. Grace, Denver priest, spent the night in the County Jail, after conviction in Federal Court of having forged the name of Sister Germaine of the Mullen Home for the Aged, to an application for permission to transfer liquor into Colorado. Counsel will file motions for an arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The court will be asked to permit the priest's release under bond. Attorney said that the penalty for the offence is one of five years in prison and a fine not to exceed $10,000.

BOSTON TO BUY COAL TO HALT SUFFERING

Fearing that Boston will suffer this coming Winter from a fuel shortage as acute as that of last year, Mayor Curley has ordered Frank P. Rock, Superintendent of Supplies, to hasten to the coal regions to make necessary arrangements to buy 25,000 to 50,000 tons of anthracite coal.

The mayor a few days ago declared that if any attempt was made by coal dealers to boost the price of coal over the $16 charged last year he would ask for an appropriation of half a million dollars from the city council and sell coal to the public at cost.

Rock declared that without question there was a grave shortage of anthracite coal in the city. Present supply is 40 per cent. of normal.

DEATH HEAD AT CHURCH POSTED BY KU KLUX

Pawtucket, July 26.—The "death head" of the Ku Klux Klan, neatly modelled in hard plaster on a pilar outside the First Methodist Episcopal Church here, is being investigated by state police, Pawtucket police, the sheriff and detectives.

Persons who have seen the modelled skull and crossbones declare it is not a childish prank, but that it was modelled by a sculptor of no mean ability, and probably has K. K. K. significance.

The Rev. James I. Bartholomew, pastor of the church, seemed unconcerned when questioned. He said he knew no reason why his church should be thus picked out and branded by the Klan.

Photographs of the device, and finger prints found in the plaster, are being studied by the police.

American to Snap Beach Photos of Charming Girls

Girls, here's your chance.

To make sure that no really CHARMING girl loses the opportunity of entering the Boston American's big tournament, a photographer from this newspaper will visit nearby beaches and make snapshots free of charge of the beautiful sirens who are disporting themselves beside the ocean waves.

The American photographer will be at the following places from 1 to 3 p. m. on the days named:

Today Nantasket Beach, near main entrance.

Friday, Head House, City Point, South Boston.

Saturday, Wollaston Beach.

Sunday, Salisbury Beach, near main automobile entrance.

Get out your best smile, girls. It may win that free trip to Atlantic City for you.

MAINE WOMAN TO HONOR WILL 'UNWRITTEN'

Biddeford, Me., July 26.—Mrs. Jane Russell, eighty-one years old, boarding house keeper and heir to more than $500,000, will honor what she believes to be the "unwritten will" of her nephew, James F. Brackett of Biddeford, whose fortune she inherited when he died intestate, and will share her inheritance with three aged cousins of the dead man.

Mrs. James Elden, Miss Etta Elden and Mrs. Mary Innes, all of Buxton, Me., are the relatives to be made independently rich for the rest of their lives by Mrs. Russell's action.

Mrs. Russell, half-sister of Brackett's mother, was adjudged next of kin, and under Maine law is legally entitled to the fortune.

All four women to participate in the Brackett fortune have worked hard throughout their lives. The three Buxton women live on and work a small farm in that town. Mrs. Russell has kept boarders for a livelihood for years.

32,500 WORKERS NEEDED IF STEEL HOURS ARE CUT

New York, July 26.—Heads of manufacturing subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation met today with Elbert H. Gary to consider the readjustment necessary to eliminate the twelve-hour day in the industry.

One matter which it was understood would be discussed today was of procuring about 32,500 additional workers when the long shift is eliminated. According to Mr. Gary, about 65,000 of the steel corporation's 200,000 employees at present are working twelve hours a day.

Unskilled labor now working twelve hours a day receive 40 cents an hour. On the twelve-hour basis, corporation officials believe this constitutes adequate pay, but if the hours are shortened the workers would receive only $3.20 a day at the present hourly rate.

Mr. Gary estimated that elimination of the twelve-hour day probably would add 15 per cent. to the cost of production.

TODAY AND FRIDAY

PENSION URGED FOR RETIRED U.S. EMPLOYES

More than 500 members of the Association of Retired Federal Employes of Boston met in Faneuil Hall to listen to Robert H. Alcorn, Washington representative, explain legislative matters affecting Federal employes.

Mayor Quinn

This association is endeavoring to secure an increase in the annuities granted under the Lehlbach act of May 22, 1920. The fund from which the annuities have been and are now being paid is made up wholly of amounts deducted from the salaries of the Civil Service employes of the Government, the said deduction being 2½ per cent. of each employe.

Mr. Alcorn urged the employes to stick together and fight for the amendment, which, if adopted, would mean paying annuities to all Federal employes who have completed fifteen years of service.

William McDonald, president of the Postoffice Employes' Association, presided and told how this amendment, if passed, would assure employes of a certificate which, when at the age of fifty-five, they complete their service through no fault of their own, would entitle them to one-half their salary.

Mayor Quinn of Cambridge said: "I believe that the present Lehlbach bill is very fair and advocate any humane method to amend it."

Woman Sues Man Who Saved Her From Death

Waterbury, Vt., July 26.—Lewis Pecor, a farmer of this place, threw Mrs. Elizabeth Tate, of North Duxbury, out of his automobile to save her from going over a steep embankment with the car. Now Mrs. Tate is suing him for $1,000 for injuries which she alleges she received. According to Pecor, his brakes refused to hold. The machine was near a precipitous bank.

Pecor leaped out and, placing his body against the mudguard, called to three women occupants to jump. They hesitated, so he seized them and threw them out one after another. He caught Mrs. Tate by the hair and threw her to the ground, just as the car rolled down the embankment.

Wins Fitchburg Divorce

Fitchburg, July 26.—Edith C. Matson of this city was granted a decree nisi from Raymond C. Matson of Manchester, N. H., on the grounds of gross and confirmed habits of intoxication by Judge William T. Forbes in Probate Court.

GETS GOLD BY SIFTING ASHES OF DEAD

Providence, July 26—Is a man who sifts the ashes of a cremated body for gold a ghoul?

Dr. Mailford W. Thewlis of this city has startled the country with this question after relating how the manager of a crematory sold gold to a refiner. The refiner becoming curious as to where the man secured the precious metal made the inquiry.

"I don't mind telling you," was the amazing reply. "I get it by sifting the ashes of the dead." Now arises the question if the manager of a crematory is within his ethical rights. Said Dr. Thewlis today:

"Would you call the manager of the crematory a ghoul? He probably is the good-natured father of a numerous family and the gold of the dead is transmuted into dresses for a luxom wife, children's socks and shoes, perhaps even an automobile, which takes the happy family to the beach in summer. Surely the dead do not miss their gold.

"If from the Elysian fields they can still watch us poor humans, as many ants struggling in and out of the ant hill, those who were philosophers would smile at the happy circumstances of the manager's family.

"While if among them there happened to be efficiency experts, they would certainly wonder if the time is coming when the Senate introduces a bill requiring every dead American citizen to be cremated, his ashes sifted in order to swell the treasury."

WILSON TO KEEP 'OLD TIMERS' ON FORCE

Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson will stand by policemen who have grown old in the public service.

Herbert A. Wilson

"Police officers who have reached the age of sixty-five years will not be ousted from the force by me," declared the commissioner.

His statement has set at rest rumors among 1,400 members of the force that he was going to clear out "old timers," and open the way to promotion of younger men.

"The seasoned policeman who is physically and otherwise fit may stay in the department indefinitely, so far as I am concerned," he said. "no one will be ousted from service on my recommendation merely because he has reached the pension age.

"He may, however, at the discretion of the mayor be removed from the department at any time after he has reached the age limit.

"Should a member of the force, however, prove that he is unable to continue in his work and request retirement, I will not interfere."

When a policeman has reached the age of sixty-five years, it is compulsory for the commissioner to forward a statement of this fact to the mayor. Many such statements are already in the hands of Mayor Curley.

MALDEN REALTY VALUES BOOSTED

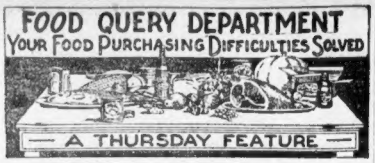
FOOD QUERY DEPARTMENT
YOUR FOOD PURCHASING DIFFICULTIES SOLVED



Are you at a loss as to where you can secure some particular brand or kind of foodstuffs? If so, write the Boston American Food Query Editor. We will answer your inquiry in these columns as quickly as possible.

Food Query Editor:

Would you kindly advise me if there is any store in Boston that carries Cross & Blackwell's preserves, etc. I am mainly interested in getting their "Chow-Chow." Until now I have always had to send to New York city for it.

I think your idea is lovely. I have not noticed your column before or would have written sooner.

Thanking you for any information you may be able to give me, I beg to remain

MRS. M. D. C.

Roxbury.

The Cobb, Bates & Yerxa and S. S. Pierce Stores carry Cross & Blackwell's Chow-Chow and pickles. John Gilbert, Jr., Co., 436 Boylston street, Boston, carries a complete line of Cross & Blackwell's goods, such as pickles, sauces, ketchups, chutney, vinegar, honey, etc.

Food Query Editor:

Please tell me through your very helpful column where I can obtain Durkee's Salad Dressing. I am unable to purchase this particular brand in Waltham and all places I've tried in Boston.

Thanking you, I am,

M. D.

Waltham.

You can purchase Durkee's Salad Dressing in any of the Cobb, Bates & Yerxa or E. E. Gray Company's stores.

Food Query Editor:

Have tried everywhere it seems to buy the old fashioned yellow Hominy, either cooked or uncooked but without success, and I should be very grateful if your column could aid me in securing same.

Thanking you for any information, I remain,

N. A. T.

Cambridge.

We have made numerous inquiries in the hope of trying to find some one that handles old fashioned yellow Hominy, but the largest cereal manufacturers and cereal brokers do not know of a mill in this part of the country that turns out Yellow Hominy for table use. The White Hominy is used here exclusively.

Food Query Editor:

Have you ever heard of an Imported Swiss Cheese wrapped in tin foil and packed in small boxes. I have never had this cheese myself but heard it was easily digested and had a wonderful flavor. Thought perhaps through your column I could get some information about the above.

Thanking you, I remain,

MRS. F. D. L.

Weymouth.

The S. S. Pierce Co. handles an imported Swiss Cheese put up in boxes. The name of same is Tiger Brand. Full name of same is Tiger Brand Emmental-Gruyere Cheese. We understand this cheese is very easily digested.

Food Query Editor:

In New York we used to find it very handy to buy Chicken Chop Suey and Chicken a la King already prepared and put up in glass jars, but I have been unable to locate a store handling anything like that here in Boston. I think the brand that we used to buy was Diplomat. This might help you in locating the above item.

Respectfully,

MISS J. E. F.

Belmont.

You can find a complete line of Diplomat Brand of Chicken Chop Suey, Chicken a la King and other commodities put up by the House of A. Sitz, New York City, at Houghton & Dutton Grocery Department.

Food Query Editor:

Almost invariably when I call up the butcher and ask for a piece of fat pork he will ask me what kind I want and I answer him that I want it to cook with beans.

Now I was always under the impression that there was only one kind of fat pork. If there is any more than this one kind I would appreciate knowing it.

MRS. D. L. L.

Allston.

There are three kinds of fat pork, one known as bean pork, which is really the jowl or cheek of the hog. A brisket pork, which is a mixture of fat and lean, and the straight fat pork, which is cut from the hog's back. Any one of the three above mentioned grades of pork can be used to cook with beans.

ASSERT SPOOKS GAVE RECIPE FOR CAKE

The family of Daniel H. Hall, a retired letter carrier of No. 1937 Columbus avenue, Roxbury, are fortunate in being served by a spook-conducted information bureau. The spiritual bell-hops who carry messages to them from the Hereafter have a wealth of information on all subjects ranging from the diagnosis of cancer to the making of cake. According to Hall, that celestial service is likely to send out a broadcast at any hour of the day or night.

MYSTIC FACULTY

His family, too, are supposed to be endawed with this mystic faculty. Hall's daughter, Mrs. Effie Wickson, says that she is in constant communication with her dead mother. She tells of an occasion when the spirit of her mother whispered that she was using the wrong recipe in the making of a cake of a certain kind. She followed the message's advice, and lo and behold, the next cake was a gastronomic marvel.

Again, Almon Reed, an inventor, who lives with the family, received a message while he slept in which a formula for the composition of a marvelous furniture polish was given to him. On arising, he wrote down the formula, and subsequently manufactured the product. It was a great success, according to Reed.

CLAIMS PSYCHIC POWERS.

"I perform cures by what is known as 'the laying on of hands,'" said Hall. "That strange power was discovered in me by a medium some 27 years ago, and I have practiced it ever since. By merely touching a person, I can tell whether he is suffering from scarlet fever, cancer, tumor, etc., as the case may be."

FIND CAKE EATERS IN SPIRIT WORLD

GHOSTLY EXPERT ADVISES PASTRY COOK

Mrs. Effie Wickson, daughter of Daniel H. Hall (inset), a retired letter carrier of Roxbury, has no further use for standard cooking books. Now when she starts to bake a cake she first calls up the Spirit World and asks to be connected with some nice Spooky who tells her, she says, how to balance the ingredients for a scrumptious dessert.

REVOLT IN U. S. NEAR, MAGNUS JOHNSON SAYS

St. Paul, Minn., July 26 (A.P.).—Revolution—political, industrial or even a resort to arms—faces the United States "if conditions confronting the laboring man and the farmer are not changed," in the opinion of Magnus Johnson, recently elected Senator from Minnesota on the Farmer-Labor ticket.

"Many think the same thing that happened in Russia cannot happen in this country," the Senator-elect said. "But don't fool yourself. It could happen here before you know what was going on.

"The Czar had a big army but he couldn't stop a revolution. We haven't hardly any army at all, so what could our government do if there was a nation-wide revolution? It couldn't do a thing.

"The farmer should have cost of production, plus a reasonable profit, definitely guaranteed by the government," Mr. Johnson holds. "Because the farmers' products have lost their buying power and when the farmer can't buy the country will soon feel it."

Explaining "some of the things that can lead to revolution" the Senator-elect said "65 per cent. of the wealth of the country is in the hands of 2 per cent. of the population and unless there is a better distribution of this wealth, the common people are going to revolt against it."

"This better distribution of wealth," he said, "could be accomplished through heavier taxation of large and successful corporations, taxing of non-productive incomes, excess profits, and profiteers with regulation of their activities so the added burden would not be shifted again to the people."

ARREST 4 AMERICANS FOR SMUGGLING ARMS IN CHINA

Shanghai, July 26 (A.P.)—Four Americans are under arrest in China charged with implication in an alleged plot for the wholesale smuggling of arms into China from Russia and Japan.

Lawrence H. Kearney, for whom a warrant was issued July 9, charging him with being the head of the plot, was arrested at Ching-Hai, a seaport, and brought here today and placed in prison. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

C. V. Stein, arrested by American consular agents in connection with the same alleged plot, is being brought to Shanghai.

Kearney formerly was head of the defunct firm of Kearney and Company, produce importers. It is alleged he bought 160,000 Russian and Japanese rifles from the Russian refugee fleet which put in here last December.

DRIVER KILLED AS AUTO HITS 2 TELEGRAPH POLES

Southbury, Ct., July 26 — Fred Greene, twenty-two, son of Medical Examiner Dr. S. A. Greene, is dead, and Hollister Flemming, twenty, son of Thomas Flemming, seriously hurt as the result of an automobile accident. Greene was driving down the Seymour road when his machine crashed into two telegraph poles, cutting both of them off. Greene was dead when taken from the wreckage.

POSING AS IMMIGRANTS, TRIO ROBS LODGING HOUSE

Two South End lodging houses were robbed by three thieves disguised as immigrants who entered the houses under protext of seeking lodgings. Houses at No. 37 Appleton street and at No. 42 Montgomery street, were victimized. The plan of the trio is: Two of them, loaded down with bundles after the manner of immigrants, apply for lodging, select a room on the top floor, and tender a large bill in payment. When the lodging housekeeper goes to make the change, they watch where she keeps it. Later, the two men return with the third, "a very good friend of ours, who wants a room near us." While the lodging housekeeper is showing the "friend" about the place, the two steal the money and whatever other valuables they can find, and decamp.

LOST SPRINGFIELD CHILD FOUND MIRED IN SWAMP

Monson, July 26—Three-year-old Anna Christensen, sent by her parents in Springfield to visit her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christensen of Moulton Hill, was found after a search lasting six hours, up to her knees in mud in a treacherous swamp about a mile from her grandparents' home. Though chilled by the long exposure the little girl seemed fully recovered after neighbors applied warm blankets and hot food.

AUTO DASHES PAST ONCOMING EXPRESS

Saco, Me., July 26.—A roadster bearing three men rushed through a lowered gate on the Boston & Maine crossing here, cleared the fender of an express train by a few inches, crashed through the gate on the opposite side and continued its course. A State patrolman followed and arrested George Hoit of Portland, charged with driving while intoxicated. Two men with Hoit escaped.

WORCESTER CAMPER CLEANS RIFLE; SHOT

Worcester, July 26.—Fred Smith, forty-one years old, of No. 8 Hillstone street, former scout master, was shot when the 22 calibre rifle which he was cleaning, and which he thought unloaded, discharged. DROPS DEAD IN LAWRENCE MILL

Lawrence, July 26.—While he was preparing to eat dinner at his work in the Pacific Mill, Joseph St. Pierre, No. 46 Cypress street, fifty years old, the father of ten children, became suddenly ill and died within a few moments. Medical Examiner Victor A. Reid pronounced death due to heart disease. Victim was a native of Canada, but had resided in this city for the past forty years.

COURT CHECKS PROVINCE ST. WIDENING

Judge Carroll.

The proposed widening of Province street, between School and Bromfield streets at a cost of at least $1,000,000, received a check when Judge Carroll of the Supreme Court enjoined the Street Commissioners of Boston from establishing a temporary building line on Province street.

Judge Carroll, in a memorandum, says in part: "The order of the Street Commissioners attempted to establish building lines on each side of Province street—the line on the land of the Olympia Realty Co. and the Massachusetts General Hospital being permanent, and that on the land of the remaining abutters being temporary for one year.

"I find nothing in the statute authorizing the proceedings which permits the fixing of a temporary line, and no decision of any court which supports this position.

"The procedure is regulated by statute and the power granted to establish an easement and to take the property of an owner by eminent domain is not to be extended by inference or implication.

"In my opinion the statute did not give authority to the Board of Street Commissioners to establish a temporary building line, and in this respect its action was illegal."

GRIEN CORN UNDER CORN BORER BAN

FLAMING YOUTH By WARNER FABIAN

The Great Reform Novel of the Year, Baring Innermost Secrets of Luxury-Loving Class

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Mona Fentriss, young, beautiful and the wife of a consulting engineer, has been told by her physician, Bob Osterhout, who is in love with her, that she has only a short time to live. Mona gives a gay party, telling Pat to go to bed, but the latter borrows a sister's dress, steals downstairs and has "a taste of life." Mona dies and Constance receives a call from Cary Scott, her mother's first admirer. Scott is much taken with Pat. A party is planned for the Dangerfields to christen the new swimming pool. A thunder storm puts out the lights and the guests go into the water without clothes. Dee modestly hesitates on the balcony and then the lights came on, revealing her in a blinding glare. Pat succumbs to Cary Scott. Dee's husband is badly hurt. She refuses to elope with Wollaston. Pat confesses to Dee her relations with Carey. She goes to New York to see Ralph Fentriss' "flossie" and is invited to Edna Carroll's parties. She meets Leo Stenak, and arranges to go to him in Boston but his appearance kills her love. She becomes engaged to Standish.

That all husbands fear the ire of their wives.

That all landlords are heartless.

That all Congressmen are great on wind and poor on work.

That all bricklayers are better off than college men.

And the sad part of it is it's pretty darn near right!

WARNING NOTE.

When a man shows no passing interest in beautiful women generally at a brilliant affair, it's a sign he'll come out of the cocoon right after he marries THE one girl.

PHIL OSSIFY SAYS

A lot of people don't consider themselves well off until they get an automobile and then they realize we'll get along fine without it.

Has raised life's goal somehow!

"In BLACK OXEN Mrs. Atherton has produced an absorbing romance of imaginative feminine psychology. Quite the finest thing she has done since 'The Conqueror.' It is a story with the true quality of romance brilliantly realized. Unique in the originality of its conception. The central theme is one that comes but once in a generation. Instinctively one returns to the Peau de Chagrin of Balzac for a story of such potential mystery, fanciful symbolism and startling originality." Owen Johnson. —N.Y. Herald

JUST MOVIE MADNESS

By Lisle Bell.

KNICKER—Do you suppose many screen stars lead double lives?

Rocker—No, there's too much risk of double exposure.

One advantage of the movies over the parlor is that you can have dim lighting without personal responsibility for it.

Half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, but the movies are rapidly cutting down the proportion.

No screen star will ever become a famous statesman because all famous statesmen wear baggy trousers.

"I want to speak to you confidentially," so put the cat and dog out of the room."

"Is it and dog?"

"No, they carry tails."

Our idea of wasted energy is [illegible] a scene at a movie screen.

The staged scene of a picture theatre is never crowded, for who wants to take five thousand feet of film out to supper?

The chief difficulty in filming "Robinson Crusoe" must have been to find an actor who wasn't superstitious about acting Friday.

The man who applied for a job in the pictures by writing "I ain't hard to be taunt anything. I'm brave to jump anywhere," proved it by trying to jump into the moving.

I stood at my sweetheart's window,
Striving my love to utter;
But one cold stare she gave me there,
And quickly closed the shutter.

"This experiment in rejuvenation, this terrible struggle between an old mind's love of power and a young mind's need of love, all these tricks of plot and chance are for her, but wheels on which to run her story, and for us, bait to catch our interest, to lure us into the novel. The deception is what she writes for, and what the good reader will read for. It is as a social description, done with power that one must praise BLACK OXEN." Buffalo News

Then the pedestrian asked what seemed to be the trouble with it. "Well," was the laconic answer, "by the way she acts I should judge that fifty-nine of the horses were dead."

MR. GALLAGHER and MR. SHEAN

THE Boston American awards each week an original Gallagher & Shean drawing to the reader who sends in the best Gallagher & Shean lyric.

One is selected for publication in this column every day, and on Saturday the selection of the best one is made and a drawing is mailed the winner.

Today's selection, which will be among the six from which the winner will be selected this week, is by J. Kehoe, Jr., No. 9 Lewis street Providence, R. I.:

Oh Mr. Gallagher, Oh, Mr. Gallagher!
Last night I could hardly sleep a wink,
And this morning I was so weak,
That I could neither eat or speak,
Thought sure it was to be the end of me.

Oh, Mr. Shean, Oh, Mr. Shean!
I am truly sorry, that you can see.
For it must have been the heat,
To have made you feel so weak,
WAS IT SUNSTROKE, MR. GALLAGHER?
NO, MOON-SHINE, MR. SHEAN.

Bobbie and His Pa

OUR teecher was telling us in skool today about a long word, wich is called Gratty-tood, I guess that is the rite way to spell it. Gratty-tood.

It is a bulitul thing, our teecher sed. We find it often in the harts of the simpel & lowly, sed our teecher. Often, also, we fale to find it ware we look for it most, our teecher sed.

I asked Pa about it last nite, Pa, I sed, tell me a thing about Gratty-tood.

Well, sed Pa, Gratty-tood is a ether word for thanks, Bobbie, sed Pa. If I do sumthing noebel & gennerus, for you or yure mother, wich is what I am all the time doing, sed Pa, you feel Gratty-tood, or thanker-fulness, sed Pa. It-at is as it shud be, Pa sed. Well nite you both show Gratty-tood, sed Pa. Wel nite you both be thanker-ful that you have such a relashun as what I am, sed Pa.

Now, Bobbie, sed Ma, you understand, do you? If you give thanks daily & nitely, sed Ma, that you have such a wunderful father, you are grateful, or in ether words, sed Ma, you are showing Gratty-tood. But if I work all day long, sed Ma, & git three nice meels for you & yure noebel father, it is all in the day's work & nothing is sed, sed Ma.

I see, sed Pa. You mean that I am a inner-grate.

No, sed Ma, but I think moast men is kind of thotless about being Grateful when thay shud be, sed Ma. Thay take too much for granted, sed Ma.

Why, the idee, sed Pa. Gratty-tood is my middel naim, sed Pa. I was thankful wen I married you, sed Pa, & I am thankful now beekaus I dount have to git married agoun, sed Pa.

I guess thare will nevver be any occashun for it, sed Ma. If you keep on smoaking those strong cigars, sed Ma, you will pass on into the grate beyond beefore I do, sed Ma. Of course I hope not, sed Ma, but I wish you wuddent smoak so much.

Then Pa lited a other cigar & went in the front room to reed his paiper, I will close with a pome,

In this life so ruff & rude
There arent very much gratty-tood.
But I give thanks for all I get
& also look for moar, you bet.

Medbury Says—

By John P. Medbury

THE latest fad among the men is to have their photograph taken once a week. They do this to keep a record of how much better looking they get every day.

WHENEVER you tell a dame how handsome you are, there's nothing like having a picture to back it up.

NATURE may be cruel, but a photograph has a conscience.

IF ywe don't happen to be good looking, it's easy enough to carry another guy's picture.

THE chances are he won't object as long as he doesn't have to carry your face.

ONE bird carried another fellow's picture so long that he finally got to believe it was a portrait of himself.

HE'S waiting now for this fellow to die so that he'll have the exclusive use of his face.

IT'S too bad that a handsome man can't have his looks copyrighted.

BUT most of us don't have to worry about having our face stolen.

SOMEBODY might steal it at night, but they'd bring it right back as soon as it got daylight.

SOME photographers take better portraits than others. One studio made such a perfect likeness of a man that he had to shave the picture every morning.

LATER on when this guy began losing his hair, the picture got bald, too.

ANY photographer can take your picture and make it look like you, but a wise photographer will take a picture of you and make it look like somebody else.

A LOT of people want too much. They expect a camera to accomplish something that nature fell down on.

MOST everybody looks sad in a photograph. That's because the studios charge fifteen to twenty dollars a dozen.

HOW can you look pleasant when you know what the pictures are costing you.

THE only fellow who can smile while he's having his photograph is the guy who's getting the work on credit.

THE one sure way of getting a good picture taken is to make an appointment with an expert photographer and then let somebody else pay for you.

DON'T ENCOURAGE THE THOUGHT THAT OLD AGE IS UPON YOU.

You have little pains and little "cricks" here and there, and you have fallen into the habit of thinking that you are fast approaching an age when you will not be able to do much.

You are pushing yourself into a helpless state by your thoughts.

The human system is about the same in all individuals.

If you have no unusual ailments you are about as well off as most people of your own age—perhaps you are in a better condition.

The aged automobile squeaks and creaks. It cannot be speeded up as it could when it was new. Careful attention to it and good care means prolonged service.

So it is with your own body.

You cannot expect to speed up as you did twenty or thirty years ago.

Now and then there are bound to be aches and pains that you have not experienced before.

But why throw up your hands and admit or encourage the thought that it is old age and you are rapidly creeping downward.

Head up and heart light is the good form which will make you seem young.

Right Out Loud

Mary Ellen, a country girl, on her first visit to the city, boarded a street car.

Presently the conductor came up to her and said: "Your fare, miss."

The girl blushed. The conductor repeated, "Your fare, miss," and the girl blushed more deeply.

By this time the conductor began to look foolish. After a pause he tried again: "Miss, your fare!"

"Well," said the girl, "they do say I'm good looking at home, but I don't see why you want to say it out loud before all these people."

Prices Again Move Forward at Dull Market on the New York Stock Exchange

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

A few rotten apples in a barrel can do a lot of damage if not promptly thrown out. A few bad bankers can give—and have been giving—the whole banking profession a name, a reputation, not deserved by at least ninety out of every hundred.

In a recent talk to an important association of bankers, I spoke very plainly about the discreditable part bankers had played in making it possible for lawbreakers and certain other schemers to do business on a large scale and rob the public of many millions of dollars. I asked them if they could challenge the statement that, had such plunderers not been afforded banking facilities, they could not have operated as they did operate. Of course, the bankers could not deny this statement.

Now the public are informed by no less an authority than the United States Prohibition Commissioner, Roy A. Haynes, that bankers are in league with bootleggers.

What effect is this new charge then going to have upon the minds of the rank and file of the people of this country? Is it not going to do infinite harm to the banking profession as a class in the eyes of the public?

Read what the head of the Federal Government's prohibition force says on this unsavory subject:

"In the upbuilding of the smuggling trade from the south to its present highly organized state with the 'underwriters' fee levied often at arranging credit and allotting profits, many devices have been tried out. Among these is one which points a finger of condemnation at certain banking institutions in American seaports.

"Some genius of the underworld hit upon a working scheme. The plan was based on the old trade custom of deposits in escrow. Arrived at satisfactory terms, there appeared at the bank the principals in the action to draw on and sign an agreement fixing the conditions under which payment was to be made by the bank. The runner-up went forward with the transaction, secure in the knowledge that his money was awaiting him at the bank when he delivered the goods.

"Usually a condition of the agreement was that both parties should appear together at the bank, and state that the deal had been carried out to their satisfaction, before the bank would make payment. Similarly, in the event of failure of the deliveries, the depositor could draw down his deposit only under like conditions. Almost always a provision was included for the selection of an arbitrator whose decision should be binding on the bank should the principals not agree as to the facts.

"It seems singular that any banking house could be drawn into such a relationship, although the utmost care was taken in drawing up the agreement to avoid mention of liquor, and to confine the terms to unspecified commodities. It must be that bank officials who lent themselves to this business were of a sort who could satisfy conscience by a hair-line distinction, for they could hardly have been in doubt as to the nature of the actual transaction."

That's bad. It ought to disturb every banker in America. Drastic action is extremely desirable, in the interest of the banking profession and every other class of lawabiding citizens.

* * *

What can be done about it?

The offending bankers doubtless seek to keep within the law.

But because a thing is not illegal, the conclusion must not be reached that it cannot be possibly stopped.

The professions have methods of their own for dealing with their members. The Bar Association points out lawyers who commit acts not ethical. The medical profession holds its members to certain standards of conduct. The New York Stock Exchange has very effective regulations for publishing members who do things not regarded as strictly honorable.

One of the largest and most influential professional associations in the United States is the American Bankers' Association. It covers every State in the union. It has members in practically every community. It includes among them a fair principal officers bankers of the highest standing and of notable energy. Its executive headquarters is a large and efficient staff.

* * *

Cannot the decent bankers of America, through their powerful national organization, devise ways and means of disciplining members who indulge in practices which cannot but bring the whole profession into disrepute?

* * *

This suggestion is offered and urged because it is considered likely to reflect upon what the public, through the ballot and through their law-making representatives, may be incited into doing should our bankers as a class incur nationwide distrust and hostility.

BIG ADVANCE IN EXPORTS OF OIL

June exports of crude and refined oils were 377,628,422 gallons, against 236,593,341 in June, 1922. Values were $32,938,377, increase of $14,000,000 over June, 1922. Total value for 12 months under June 30 was $344,750,422, against $320,614,347 in the previous fiscal year.

FIND CHANGE IN CHARACTER OF TRADING

Prices crept steadily higher during the early stages of the market on the New York Stock Exchange. Some fractional declines, especially in the oil issues were noted at the outset. The list soon became steady and then strong buying gradually sent prices upward.

The character of trading was somewhat changed. Bears lacked the courage displayed earlier in the week, considerable short covering was reported. Commission houses stated that the inquiry for high grade securities was keener.

At first rails made but feeble response to the higher June earnings reports. Great Northern preferred slipped to a fresh low at 66½, but recovered its loss quickly. Reading, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley and Union Pacific were among the strong factors. Northern Pacific started at its recent low, but soon pushed over to the consolidated list.

Steels and equipments showed renewed power. Gains ranging from one to two points were uncovered in American Car & Foundry, Crucible, Baldwin and Lima Locomotive.

Oils started off heavy as the result of a further reduction in crude. Houston Oil declined 2 points.

American Metal preferred sold nearly three points above the previous sale. American Woolen advanced 1¾ and United Fruit 1¼ points. Indahoma Refining 1⅞ and Peoples Gas 1¼.

The feature of the foreign exchange market was the further collapse of the German mark to over 700,000 to the dollar.

714,280 GERMAN MARKS FOR DOLLAR

CURB MEMBERS BARRED AS OFFICIALS

New York, July 26.—The New York Curb Market made public a resolution of the Board of Governors forbidding members of the Exchange from being connected directly or indirectly with any organization in New York city whose securities are listed and traded on the curb.

Violators of this rule are subject to suspension for not more than one year, or expulsion, as the board may determine.

This action is believed to have been taken as a result of criticism against the allegedly unethical practice of members dealing in securities of companies in which they have a financial interest.

The board also adopted a resolution forbidding members from dealing in securities listed or quoted on the curb or any other exchange in New York city or publicly outside the exchange. This resolution was aimed at "over the counter" trading in curb securities.

England Right; Poincare Now Greatest Menace To World Peace

France has only one policy toward Germany. It is not to get reparations. It is to get permanent possession of the industrial heart of Germany.

England will tell France in a few days that this policy means the annihilation of Germany, consequently the bankruptcy of France, and it must be abandoned.

England will speak in the politest terms of diplomacy. But the warning will be clear and the British prime minister will be supported by the enlightened moral sense of the civilized world.

The truth is, M. Poincare is now the most dangerous and dictatorial militarist in the world. Six months before the outbreak of the World War the Belgian ambassador at Paris, Guilliaume, wrote his home office:

"It is MM. Poincare, DeClasse, Millerand and their friends who have invented and pursued the nationalistic and Chauvinistic policy which menaces the peace of Europe."

Two years before the war Sazonoff, foreign minister of the old corrupt Czarist government, after one of Poincare's visits to St. Petersburg, wrote in a circular to his British diplomats:

"When the critical moment in international relations arrives, it would be most desirable to have at the head of the allied government, if not Poincare himself, at least a personality who has the same energetic character."

What is the French militarist policy to which the Belgian ambassador, France's ally, referred?

It is admirably summarized in a book, "Let France Explain," by an eminent American jurist, Frederick Bausman, formerly justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington:

"The present government of France drives Europe to desperation by claims based on outraged innocence.

"Under the Treaty of Versailles, Germany has paid up to this date the vast sum of 25,000,000,000 gold marks, of which nothing has been applied to her debt. More than a million dollars a day have gone to support the armies of occupation, chiefly French. Nothing can be done until the truth is known.

"In the art of war France ever has been supreme. No other people in Europe have so often sought glory in war, have so well and frequently written about war, have so perfectly laid down the principles of war.

"In every country of Europe the vocabulary of war is French. Does not every country in Europe show the scars of France?

"The English Channel is the only boundary in Europe that in the last four centuries has never been crossed by a French army of invasion.

"It is fair to inquire which, after all, has been the most martial nation in Europe. There can be but one answer. France. Since Luther's time, twice have the French crossed the lofty Pyrenees to attack Spain, six times the mighty Alps to strike at Italy. Austria they have several times attacked. As for Germany, that wretched district has been but the bloody playground of French kings, who have repeatedly left it to hunger and woe.

"Holland the French have twice attacked, Belgium they have once annexed. Nor has Russia escaped, invaded once from the north and once from the south. England, saved from powerful French kings only by the sea, they have repeatedly assailed in her colonies because they regarded her as the only remaining obstacle to their domination of Europe.

"Our neighbor country of Mexico had to submit to a French invasion while we were engaged in war at home. China had to surrender part of her country under a French expedition. As for Syria and Morocco, these furnish but trifling additions to a list of slaughters which sit so easily upon those gay conquerors.

"We must remember that Washington and Jefferson did not allow their deep affection for the French people to obscure that fact that they were essentially martial. Washington was forced during his Presidency to clash with his recent Gallic allies, while a few years later Jefferson, who both loved the French and hated the English, when he heard that the mouth of the Mississippi might pass into French hands, wrote in alarm:

"'The love of the French for war was too well known. If the mouth of the Mississippi should pass to a national with such a temperament, we must forthwith marry ourselves to the British fleet and nation.'

"So saturated is the French temper with militarism that they think they can even boast of it without reproach. Let me give the most striking illustration. Turn to their Yellow Book. Issued after the declaration of war, to Document No. 5, a confidential report made to the minister for foreign affairs before the war, 'on the state of public opinion in Germany.' The German people are just discovering, he related proudly, that France, 'our country, conquered in 1870, has never ceased to carry on war, to float her flag and maintain the prestige of her arms in Asia and to conquer vast territories; Germany, on the other hand, had lived on her reputation.'

"That the French mean to keep themselves in a state of excessive armament if they can is not to be denied. They are arming Africans in vast numbers. Colonial Minister Sarraut points to 'Our Colonial Empire, of which so little account seems to be taken here, but which forms for us, among other attributes, a vast reservoir of man power.' This assuredly is not comforting to the white races of Europe.

"Speaking now of Germany, this is one of the countries which France had been assaulting repeatedly during three hundred years. It was Bismarck's unanswered retort that France had had twenty wars with Germany, in not one of which Germany had been the aggressor, for, as Earl Loreburn says: 'It would be a falsification of history to deny that for many years, under the Bourbons, France repeatedly attacked one or another of the German States without provocation.'

"That this was undeniable is known to most students of history, but I did not think that France would make an actual boast of such a thing and proclaim it as a policy until it has recently been made plain to me by official French documents.

"A few months ago I happened to pick up a little book, on the title page of which was stamped in the form of a circular seal, 'Consulat de France.' Published in Paris after the war, it was turned into England there as 'Two Histories Face to Face.'

"Some days later in the public library I came upon another copy and subsequently several copies at my club, all stamped with the seal of the local French consulate, so it became very plain that the French Government wishes Americans to read this little book and attach importance to it.

"The author, Jacques Bainville, tells us that the whole policy of France 'was to prevent Germany from realizing her unity as France has realized her own.'

"The whole argument, from the beginning to the end, was that anarchy in Germany, and 'anarchy' was the word frequently used, was a good thing for France, that France had

ADVOCATES UNIFORM LAWS

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 26.—Adoption of uniform code systems for regulating and interpreting laws, in order to reduce to a minimum the hundreds of volumes of statutes created annually by legislative bodies, was advocated by Chief Justice Marshall of the Ohio Supreme Court in an address here on "Too Much Law Making."

Chief Justice Marshall asserted that the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the United States Constitution are the most striking examples of expounding the principal requirements of conciseness, simplicity and perfection.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

Under British Flag

Editor Boston American:

What is Mr. Lloyd George doing now? Is he propagandizing or advertising the Holy Land to aid English exploiters? He laments the lack of immigration and tourists. Looking over the earth he will discover a dearth of permanent immigration where the British flag floats — in Canada, Australia, South Africa and elsewhere. People seeking to better their condition are not impressed with His majesty's governments' history of present attitude.

Thousands immigrated to Canada, lured by the press agent dream, and, after realizing their delusion, crossed the border and settled in this great land of opportunity and fair play.

Applause for Bobs

Editor Boston American:

I have thirty girls in my employ, hence I know whereof I speak when discussing the bobbed girl of today. Of these thirty, twenty-two have bobbed hair and not once have I ever had to speak to any one of them about taking time off for refreshing their appearance. Of the eight who have their original tresses, the customary morning combing makes them live at least four days out of six. The bobbed girl takes one swipe with the comb and she is off for her car.

Five Hungry Children

Editor Helping Hand:

I know there are some kind readers who would be touched if they could see or know of the hungry days of five little children. They have only the clothes on their backs. I have given them all the things I could spare and made over a lot that I have had given to me, but they are all gone now, and I can't afford to buy anything, as I am not working myself now. I would be glad of anything that could be made over for them, as I have a sewing machine and they haven't. The children are, girl twelve, girl seven, boy six, girl three, and baby one year old. If anyone has any old furniture or mattresses they don't want, they would also be a help, as they slept on the floor all last Winter on coats.

Editor Helping Hand:

I am writing you to thank you for what you have done for me. I called on Mrs. C. and found a very good lady, as she gave me six day's work every week and also some things I needed. If any of your readers have some day work this coming year to give me, I will be very thankful.

75 And Alone

Editor Helping Hand:

I am over seventy-five years old and am quite alone, a sufferer from rheumatism for three years now, so that I am not able to get to the library, and I economize too closely to buy any reading matter. It would be a great kindness to an old lady if I could receive some books or magazines, no matter how worn and old, that would otherwise be discarded. Any good, clean fiction of school or college life or romance or music or humorous fiction like J. C. Lincoln, or biography, travel and old standard works would be welcome. I should like to hear from some lonesome individual like myself, fond of reading of country life or of music, of my own sex preferred.

Trained Cat

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a beautiful large cat which I hate to part with. He has been trained to do all kinds of tricks. I have moved to the city and there is no place for him. I wonder if you could find a nice home for him where there are no children.

Home Cooking

Editor Helping Hand:

I read in the American about the seventy-year-old woman who is starving. Kindly send me her address and I will deliver to her some home-made cooking and also fruit and vegetables. As we are in the fruit and vegetable business, we can help her a lot. I see she lives in Roxbury, as I do, so in that way my team may be able to stop where she lives often. I also have a good, heavy Winter coat of broadcloth that may help her a little.

B. K.

Many thanks for this very generous offer. You have been sent the address of Mrs. M. H.

Husband Is Ill

Editor Helping Hand:

I hope you will forgive me for asking for help from so far away as Springfield for a poor woman with five small children from one to eight. Her husband is sickly and cannot work very well. They are in great need of clothes. The children are two boys, four and two, and three girls, eight and six, and a baby girl one year old. The woman has to go out very often to support them all.

Offers Baby Carriage

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a baby carriage to give away to some mother. It is in good condition and would like to have some mother have it very much.

MRS. V. C. 2.

Baby carriages are always welcome. You have been sent the address of Mrs. B. L., who has five children, two of which are of the baby carriage age. Thank you.

For a Small Man

Editor Helping Hand:

I read your helping hand every day and I think it is a great help to the unfortunate. I have a blue coat and vest which will fit a small man, size 36.

MRS. M. J. H.

Thank you. You have been sent the address of G. F. M., a vet, in need of clothing.

Poor Helps Poor

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a few things for a little girl between three and four which are not beautiful but which would help some poor family. Also two housedresses and a white apron for a size 19 to 20, and a petticoat. I am only a poor woman myself, but thought that these would help some poor person who has nothing.

MRS. D. E. C.

Thank you. You have been sent the addresses of Mrs. J. A. S., who has a child four, and of Mrs. M. E. L., who wears size 18.

Has More to Give

Editor Helping Hand:

I have taken a big box of clothing to E. F. A. and received a nice letter of thanks. I am enclosing a list of more things that I would be glad to give some one to help out. Should prefer someone near enough so that we could deliver the things in the machine. I have a metal hot water bottle, which might be a comfort to some sick person.

H. W. R.

The fine list that you enclosed was so long that we haven't room to print it. You have been sent the addresses of Mrs. E. R., who has two girls, and of Mrs. P. M., who wears size 44. The hot water bottle will be held for replies. Thank you.

HIS ONLY EXCUSE WAS HER THICK ANKLES

By Herbert Kaufman

POLITICS and international affairs for one day, at least, were crowded from the spotlight by violence, scandal and prize fight.

The few remaining Saturday publications which specialize in horrors and keyhole news won't want for lurid material this week.

Wires at present writing are especially heavy with shocks.

The case of Fletcher, model citizen of a London suburb, who, after thirty years of apparently happy married life, suddenly turned upon his wife and chopped her to bits "because she had such thick ankles," wasn't a comparable situation to New York's latest murder mystery.

Antonio Giordano and his wife, Theresa, both past sixty, celebrate his birthday and their first serious quarrel by locking the bedroom door and falling upon each other with axe, knife and revolver.

By the time policemen break into the flat, the woman is found with breast shot to pieces and her skull split through; the man is all but dead from a slashed throat.

No one will ever know what long, pent, mutual resentments tore the masks from a Darby and Joan and revealed a pair of blood-lusting maniacs to each other.

Learn to restrain your temper—you can never tell with what it's loaded.

One stranger asks another for a cigarette, slaps him in the face when refused and pays for the blow with his life.

A locomotive isn't safer than its brakes; nor a human being than his self-control.

No Prize Fighters Among Them

There are no prize fighters in the death cells at Sing Sing, where a warden has just refused to permit the installation of a radio set.

Broadcasters would confer a general benefit by promoting wider interest in boxing. We'd probably not have so many electrocutions then.

The first thing that a pugilist discovers is the necessity of keeping his head, if for no other reason than that an occasional bout with a husky friend is the best of discipline for any youngster.

Benny Leonard, who has collected well toward a million, mainly because he keeps his emotional brakes in perfect working order, retains the lightweight championship by knocking a hundred and forty thousand dollars out of the face and figure of Lew Tendler.

Tendler shakes hands and smiles at his defeat and sixty thousand dollars.

Over fifty thousand persons pay $400,000 to witness the match.

France, which is contemplating the revival of bull fighting, would do better to show her folk more of a game which teaches men how to lose and grin about it.

Straws in the Wind

Argentina, discouraged at the results of the Pan-American Conference, sniffs powder fumes in the offing and prepares to spend $147,000,000 on war equipment. Better late than never.

Cabinet spokesmen confess to Parliament that the uncertain temper of Europe advises the maintenance of maximum aviation and naval forces. England's propinquity to powerful, polemically inclined, but unmentioned peoples, and her exposure to air attacks, are urged in justification of budgets against which Laborites vainly vote. John Bull isn't taking chances, either.

The United States Navy expects to beat the field with two new seaplanes, regarded as the swiftest single-motored models ever built.

In case of war the government intends to turn them out in gross lots.

Enemies will, of course, waive the advantage of readiness and obligingly refrain from bombing us off the map while Congress passes necessary appropriations.

Experience teaches our politicians nothing.

England Right

always done her best to keep the German States divided, even though their being divided subjected them to poverty and to invasion by other States.

"I wondered what this writer would have to say if England proposed to throw France back again into the wrangling feuds of Burgundy, Aquitaine, Normandy, Brittany and the like, thinking it better for the security of Great Britain to have France carved in pieces.

"France was never assailed by a German army until after Bonaparte had added the horrors of his assaults on Germany to those of Richelieu, Louis XIV. and Louis XV., and until Napoleon III. had avowed that a union of the German States could not be permitted—the French monarch who had five wars in twenty years and blackmailed Italy into a surrender of Savoy and Nice as a condition to his 'permitting' that divided country also to unite.

"M. Bainville boasts that the prevention of German unity was 'a matter-of-fact plan, inspired by good sense and thoroughly led by the clear consciousness of the national interest.' The same truth was confessed by a much greater Frenchman, Jean Jaures, but with humiliation: 'From Charles VIII. to Louis XIV., and from the latter to Napoleon, France had too often abused her national unity, attained before that of other countries, by treating brutally nations still divided and unorganized.'

"M. Bainville's doctrines have been supported during the last three years by an enormous army maintained by France, while she herself was on the verge of bankruptcy and Germany entirely disarmed.'

France has eighty millions to loan to maintain Polish armies, while she is too poor even to pay interest on her war debt.

France is, indeed, again under a spell of military intoxication like that which beset the great Napoleon and again afflicted the French nation under his degenerate nephew, Napoleon III., sixty years later.

Poincare is today the greatest menace to the peace of the world. Germany must pay what she can pay. But the present policy of the French prime minister leads only to another Waterloo, another Sedan, for the valiant French people.
